

The Kyoto School in Contemporary Context

【Philosophy Workshop】

【Invited Speaker】

URAI Satoshi (Kyoto University)

Why Husserlian phenomenology mattered for the early Nishida and Tanabe

+ Quentin LI (JSPS, Hokkaido University),
Tanabe Hajime, Edmund Husserl and the Copernican revolution

+ Davide ZAPPULLI (Hokkaido University),
Is the framework of pure experience compatible with analytic philosophy of perception?

Hokkaido University

Center for Human Nature, Artificial Intelligence, and Neuroscience (CHAIN)

中央キャンパス総合研究棟 2 号館
3 階、セミナールーム

*Building access is restricted. Please dial 315 on the intercom at the entrance upon arrival.
*入館制限がありますので、参加希望の方は建物玄関でインターホン 315 を押してください。

July 8, 2026
14:00-17:15

Contact
q.blaevoet@outlook.com

Credits
This event is supported by JSPS KAKENHI Grant Number 25KF0123 and CHAIN.

Image
William H. F. Talbot, "Veil" (1859) / CC0

HOKKAIDO
UNIVERSITY

JSPS

Philosophy Workshop

The Kyoto School in Contemporary Context

July 8, 2026

Hokkaido University

Center for Human Nature, Artificial Intelligence and Neuroscience (CHAIN)

中央キャンパス総合研究棟 2号館
3階、セミナールーム

Program

Part I (Moderation: SHIMIZU Hayate)

14:00-14:45

URAI Satoshi (Kyoto University, invited speaker)

"Why Husserlian phenomenology mattered for the early Nishida and Tanabe"

14:50-15:35

Quentin LI (JSPS, Hokkaido University)

"Tanabe Hajime, Edmund Husserl and the Copernican revolution"

Part II (Moderation: Quentin LI)

15:45-16:30

Davide ZAPPULLI (Hokkaido University)

"Is the framework of pure experience compatible with analytic philosophy of perception?"

16:45-17:15 (± 15 min.)

Round table: Nishida, Tanabe and Beyond